About GSIS

Chung-Ang's GSIS is a master's degree program dedicated to providing its students with a comprehensive education in the global aspects of business & economy, politics, international development and cooperation, and global border studies together with professional proficiency in foreign language communications. This multidisciplinary approach exposes students to a broad range of global issues and emphasizes critical understanding and analytic abilities. With its excellent faculty, the program aims to provide innovative training of the highest quality on a global standard. The graduates of this program have shown impressive job placement records at home and abroad.

The MA program is composed of two general programs, International Studies Program (ISP) and Advanced Interpretation & Translation Program (AITP). ISP consists of four concentrations in Global Business and Finance (GB&F), Global Affairs and Trade (GA&T) and International Development and Cooperation (ID&C). AITP has three language concentrations in English, Chinese, and Russian. All programs have a common educational focus on building substantive knowledge in global affairs and proficiency in foreign language communications.
